GEORGETOWN WINS FROM NAVAL CADETS ON ANNAPOLIS GRIDIRON

Tomorrow's Aquatic Event, Which Will Be Another Active Feature of Encampment Week, Best in Years.

Complete List of Entries—The Times Medals for Eights—Champion Crews Here From the North.

One of the most attractive features of the entertainment program prepared by the local committee in charge of the G. A. R. encampment is the regatta to be held tomorrow afternoon, on the upper course of the Potomac River, under the direction of the Potomac, Georgetown University, and Old Dominion (of Alexandria) Boat Clubs, known for this occasion as the Potomac River Regatta Association.

The regatta will present a series of contests which will be novel to the thousands of visitors to the city, and as the races will be rowed over the upper course, ample opportunity will be afforded the throng to witness them from the Aqueduct Bridge and the nearby boathouses and wharves in Georgetown. All races will be rowed three-quarters of a mile and return, excepting the "eights," which will be one and a half miles straightaway. All races finish opposite the Potomac boathouse.

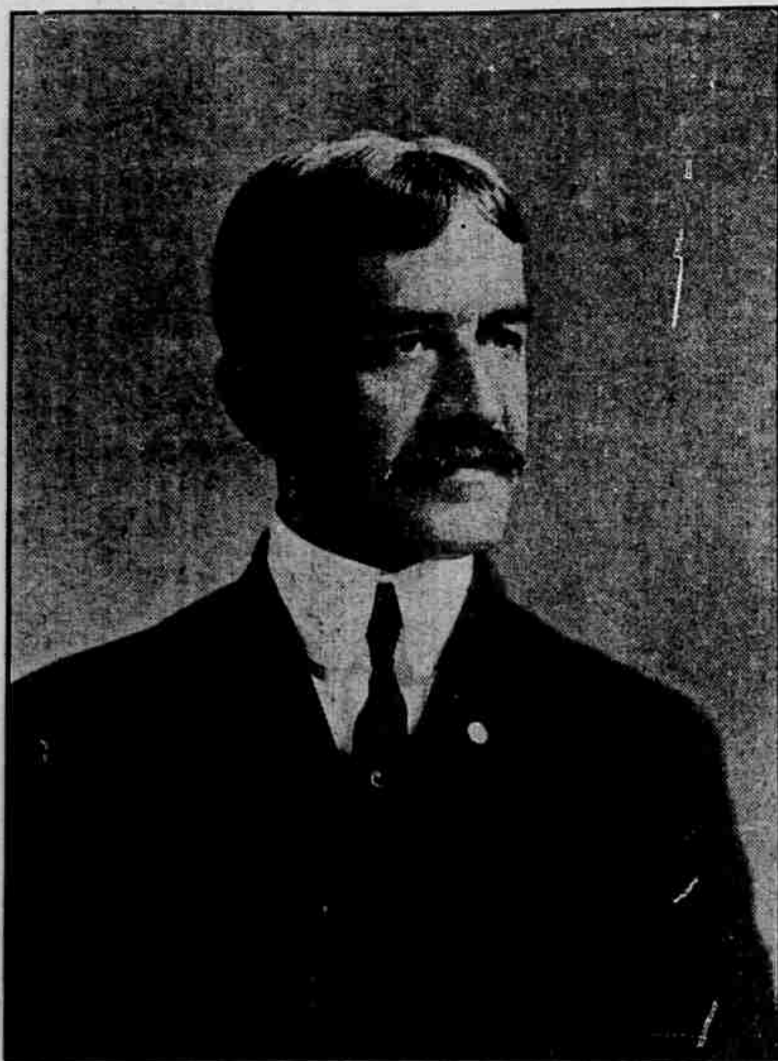

Hon. H. B. F. Macfarland and Major John Biddle, Engineer Corps, U. S. A., District Commissioners, have shown a decided interest in the regatta, and aided it all in their power. Through their influence the course was surveyed and permanent marks erected. The regatta committee is deeply indebted for their assistance in this important matter.

Torpedo Boat Race.

The presence of the torpedo boat Gwynn, which will be brought here from Annapolis, through the courtesy of the Secretary of the Navy, and will be used as the referee's boat, will be an added feature which visitors who have never seen this novel style of craft will appreciate.

The course will be kept clear by the police boat, in charge of Commodore Sutton, and it is proposed to run off the events without unnecessary delay, so that the full program should be completed by 5:30 o'clock.

So numerous are the entries in singles that the preliminaries will be rowed off on Monday morning, one at 10 o'clock

JOHN HADLEY DOYLE,

big aquatic event of tomorrow only through the indefatigable efforts and untiring energy of a few members of the joint committee and Mr. John Hadley Doyle, president of the committee and of the Potomac Boat Club, and Mr. Claude R. Zappone, of the Georgetown University Boat Club and of the N. A. A. O., have almost alone borne the burden of the undertaking, and to them is due the greatest measure of credit of securing the prizes and bringing here so large a number of visiting crews.

Mr. E. Richard Gasch, of the Potomac Boat Club, secretary of the regatta committee, has rendered efficient services in carrying on its correspondence and in the preparation and arrangement of the long list of entries.

The crews which are here from other cities are a representative lot of oarsmen, and the races tomorrow will prove that they are the "cracks" in the various events of the cities they hail from. The holding of this regatta means a revival of interest in rowing on this river, and next year will witness a repetition of tomorrow's big event.

Local Crews in Good Shape.

The Potomac Boat Club will be represented in the junior and the intermediate singles, junior doubles, junior four and junior eights, and it is expected that the old club will regain some of its lost laurels in at least two of these events. Charlie Baker has coached the crews to good form and speed.

Georgetown University will be represented by a junior four and a junior and intermediate eight, and should on form win the latter event. Coach Dempsey has been working hard with his charges, and believes they will cross the line first against the crack visitors.

It is expected that Joe Daly will make a good showing in the junior singles. He gave up the doubles to row in the eight.

List of Prizes and Donors.

Business men and others have responded liberally in the giving of medals and cups to be awarded to winners of various events, and the list of donors is a representative one. The prizes and banners are on exhibition in Sanders & Stayman's window.

The prizes and the events for which given and the donors are as follows: Gold medal for junior single, by Hon. H. B. F. Macfarland, Commissioner of the District of Columbia.

Gold medal for intermediate single, by Richard E. Pairo, esq.

Gold medal for senior singles, by Gen. George H. Harries.

Gold medals for junior doubles, by the breech mechanism shop of the navy yard.

Gold medals for senior doubles, by Col. O. G. Staples.

Gold medals and banner for four-oared eights, by bankers and brokers, through Mr. William B. Hibbs.

Gold medals and banners for senior four-oared shell, by plate printers of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Gold medals for senior eight, by Washington Times Company.

Silver loving cup, as a trophy to be won three times by junior eights, by Castberg's Jewelry Company.

Quartered With the Potomacs.

All the visiting crews are quartered in the Potomac and Georgetown University Boat Club houses, which are taxed to their capacity, as heretofore the Annapolis have shared with the others the care of boats and crews, but as the latter club is not interested in the big regatta, the others cheerfully look after visitors.

The crews quartered at the Potomac boathouse, and from which they will row, are as follows: Vesper and Fairmount, "eights," of Philadelphia; Nassau, of New York, and Malta, of Philadelphia, "fours" and "gigs;" Malta and Vesper, of Philadelphia, and Atlanta, of New York, senior doubles; Malta, junior doubles; Atlanta, intermediate doubles; Atlanta and Vesper, junior singles.

Pennsylvania Barge, Philadelphia, and Dauntless of New York, eights; Pennsylvania Barge and Jeffries Point, of Boston, senior fours; West Philadelphia and Ariels of Baltimore, junior fours and gigs; Union and Seawanna, of New York, junior doubles; Bohemian, Seawanna and New York Athletic Club senior singles; Arundel, of Baltimore, intermediate single; Arundel, Bohemian, of New York, and West Philadelphia Junior singles, are quartered at the University Boat House.

Nearly all of the above crews arrived yesterday and their shells alone filled four big 60-foot cars. Those crews that arrived early enough took a spin over the course and continued their training for tomorrow's big event.

This morning and afternoon the river, upper and lower, courses will be crowded with boats taking their final practice spins and it will be worth the while of visitors and local admirers to go over and see the sights.

List of Entries.

So numerous are the entries that no one of the ten events will have less than three entries and the great majority of these, as will be seen, come from out of town and their coming at this late season, when rowing and training in the North is usually at an end over a month ago, is a decided compliment to the city, to the regatta committee and to the G. A. R. encampment, of whose program it is the big feature of the first day's entertainment.

The entries:

Junior Singles.

Y. M. C. A. CHAMPIONSHIPS

Annual Meet Held Under Unfavorable Conditions.

The annual track and field games to decide the championships in the several events among members of the Y. M. C. A. were held yesterday afternoon at Association Park in the presence of a fairly large crowd.

Neither the track nor the weather conditions were of the sort that bring best results, and as a consequence association records were not endangered in any of the contests.

As it was a "closed" meet, there were only about thirty-five entries, and these contested the various events as hotly as the conditions would permit. It was unfortunate that the rain came when it did, as the young athletes were all in prime condition and prepared to smash some of the local records.

The games began about 3 o'clock, and were run off so rapidly that by 4:30 the meet was over.

Richardson proved the fastest sprinter, and handily won the 100-yard dash, and likewise the 220 yards. Gill was the best distance man, and won both the quarter mile and the mile. The rest of the events were well contested and had close finishes. A number of junior events were held over until a later date.

Summary of Results.

100 yards—Won by Richardson; Graham, second; Catchings, third. Time, 11 seconds.

220 yards—Won by Richardson; Graham, second; Ludwig, third. Time, 26 seconds.

440 yards—Won by Gill; Earnshaw, second; Herring, third. Time, 58 seconds.

One mile—Won by Gill; Bielaski, second; Spaulding, third. Time, 5:14.

Running high jump—Won by Spaulding; Catchings, second; Ludwig, third. Height, 5 feet 2 inches.

Running broad jump—Won by Graham; Spaulding, second; Catchings, third. Distance, 18 feet.

AMHERST ELEVEN MAKES HARD WORK FOR ELI

Yale Wins by Score of 23 to 0, But the Game Was Not So Easy.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 4.—Amherst was defeated here today by Yale, 23 to 0. But the Amherst boys fought out every inch of ground, and while they did not once get near Yale's goal, they made the Eli work as they have not had to do before this season.

The work of the Yale team was 100 per cent better than on Wednesday last. Goss played the best football he has ever been known to play, and was responsible for one of Yale's touchdowns. The position of fullback was played by McClintock, Vanderpool, and Bowman, with McClintock doing the best work at ground gaining and Bowman the best at punting and kicking goals. Farmer was a reliable ground gainer.

HARVARD'S PLAYING SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

Crimson Eleven Has Little Difficulty in Rolling Up 23 Points Against Bates.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 4.—Harvard had a comparatively easy time defeating Bates on Soldiers' Field this afternoon, rolling up 23 points in two fifteen-minute halves, and never having the opponents in danger of scoring. In the second half the varsity substitutes were sent in.

Bates was weaker than usual, especially in the line. Harvard's playing today was a vast improvement over anything that has been done on Soldiers' Field this fall. The interference was better, and a number of good gains were made around the ends. Harvard's line, too, was stronger with Barnard back at right guard and with Marshall, the former Dartmouth player, at left guard.

Departmental Game Postponed.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather, the baseball game which was scheduled to be played at National Park yesterday between the Commissioners and the Navy Yard team was postponed. The game will be played at the park tomorrow afternoon. President L. Q. C. Lamar will present the handsome silk pennant to the navy team immediately after the game.

Blue and Gray Eleven Scores Its First Football Victory Over Uncle Sam's Plucky Midshipmen.

(Special to The Washington Times.)

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 4.—For the first time in their football history, the eleven of Georgetown University defeated the Annapolis midshipmen in a game here this afternoon by the score of 4 to 0, the Washington boys, through superior aggressive work, forcing the middies behind their own goal for two safeties.

The day was a bad one for football. The weather during the entire time was threatening, and just a few minutes before the kick-off in the first half a drizzling rain began to fall and continued throughout the entire contest. The rain made the plakin difficult to handle, but in spite of this the boys played fairly well.

The Washingtonians appeared to handle the ball far superior to the midshipmen, who would fumble almost every other pass that was made.

Need of a Brace.

The playing of the middies today demonstrates the fact that the Annapolis team will have to take a considerable brace before tackling the army cadets in their annual game to take place in Philadelphia on November 29.

With the exception of a couple of fumbles, the Georgetown team put up a good game, notwithstanding the conditions. The navy line, it seemed, could not resist the attack, and the varsity backs, tackles, and guards were sent through for repeated good gains. The varsity men were heavier and at times would use their beef in opening big holes in the opposing line, although the middies worked hard to resist the terrible onslaught.

The rotten playing done by the Annapolis boys today is partly offset by the fact that they had been in practice for only five days, while Georgetown had been working several weeks and had already played one scheduled game. The navy coaches had not placed much dependence in their team and did not entertain any confidence of winning.

The Georgetown men were sure of winning and win they did, but had that old-time navy "luck" which has often won a game for the middies been with them, Georgetown would have returned

COLUMBIA WINS EASILY

Defeats Dumbarton in Inter-Club Golf Cup Series.

The first of the fall series of matches open to local golf clubs for the Star Cup was played yesterday afternoon by the Columbia Golf Club and Dumbarton Club on the course of the former.

Rain fell during the entire match, but the players went gamely over the course and, while the damp condition of the greens interfered somewhat with the golf of some of the players, it did not prevent the Columbia from beating the Dumbarton 72 up.

Columbia tried a number of new players, and they were not found wanting. Britton, of the old team, made the best score, beating Whiting 15 up. E. D. Carusi was 14 up on R. C. Palmer, and E. F. Looker 12 down to Duval, and L. L. Nicholson was 19 down to L. W. Weaver. The rest of the scores ran from 3 up to 10.

On account of the rain, the "putting" contest, open to Columbia members, was postponed to next Saturday.

TIGERS DEFEAT LEHIGH IN A DRIZZLING RAIN

Burke, Princeton's Little Quarterback, Makes a Phenomenal Run of 95 Yards.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 4.—The Tigers defeated the Lehigh eleven here in a drizzling rain this afternoon, 23 to 0. All the points were made in the second half. In the first half Princeton's offensive work was ragged. In the second Princeton pounded out three touchdowns and a goal from the field.

The first five points were scored by Hart, after Princeton had got the leather on Lehigh's 5-yard line as a result of a poor pass by Barnard, the visitors' center. Burke, Princeton's little quarterback, made the second touchdown on one of the most phenomenal runs seen here since Arthur S. Poe accomplished his victorious feat against Yale in 1898. He covered ninety-five yards.

The Princeton coaches, at that point, sent out an entire set of new backs, and the substitutes worked together in fine style, scoring a touchdown in short order. De Witt kicked all the goals. Five more points were added two minutes before time was called, by Vetterlein, a freshman, who succeeded Burke at quarter. He dropped a clever goal from the field on the 25-yard line.

to Washington tonight with a defeat marked up against them.

Over a hundred rooters accompanied the team from Washington, arriving early this morning, and helped with their cheers to urge the team on to victory.

Two halves were played, the first for a period of fifteen minutes, while the second was five minutes shorter. Georgetown scored a safety in each half. Although completely outplayed by the varsity lads, the middies put up some good defense work.

On two occasions the Georgetown team had hammered and pierced through the navy line until they brought the ball to the middies' twenty-five-yard mark, and were forced to kick. Both times, Morgan, the varsity fullback, tried a drop kick from the field, but failed.

Georgetown kicked off in the first half, Morgan booting the ball over to Shoup, who ran it back ten yards. The navy failed to gain the required distance, and Belknap, kicked the leather up the field for thirty-five yards. Reilly received the ball and ran ten yards.

Score on Safety.

Georgetown at once punted the ball up the field. Shoup misjudged the pigskin and Strassberger, who got it, was downed on the eight-yard line. Belknap dropped behind the goal posts for a kick. Oak passed the ball, slightly wild, and while Belknap was scrambling to get it in position to kick he was downed

IN FAVOR OF BALDNESS.

We have never understood the popular sentiment which regards a head free from hair as a disgraceful or ridiculous object. That the sentiment is as old as it is widespread is shown by the story of Elisha and the mocking boys. The sentiment is also shared by the public prosecutor at Cracow. There is a club of bald-headed men in that city, and they asked Archduke Charles Stephen to become their honorary president; the public prosecutor heard of the appeal and instructed proceedings to be taken against the petitioners for an insult to one of the royal family. We are glad to say that the archduke intervened and the case was quashed, although his royal highness felt unable to accept the proffered honor. That of a public prosecutor must hold similar views to those of a comrade in long ago Spain, who regarded it as an indecency to suggest that the Queen of Spain had legs. Meanwhile, we look forward to the time when a smooth, clean pate shall be as honorable and fashionable as a clean-shaven face is now.—Pall Mall Gazette.

behind the line, thus giving Georgetown two points.

The ball was brought out to the fifteen-yard line and Belknap made a beautiful punt of forty yards. Buckley caught it and made twenty yards before he was downed. Repeated gains around the ends and through the line by Thompson and the three backfield men and a double pass to Hart, which worked for twelve yards, brought the plakin to the twenty-five-yard line.

Here the navy made a desperate stand and held their opponents three downs. Morgan then attempted a goal from the field, but it missed its point by fifteen feet. Again Belknap brought the ball out and kicked. Morgan got it and ran ten yards and returned the kick. After a few rushes the half ended with the ball in the navy's possession, about midfield. Buckley, the little quarterback on Georgetown, was about the cleverest player in the game. He handled himself well. Only one penalty was inflicted during the entire game. This favored the navy. Owens, Georgetown's right end, was off side and was penalized 10 yards for the offense.

Short Second Half.

The second half was shorter by five minutes, but the playing was much faster and of more interest. Belknap kicked off. The ball went low to Seltz, who was immediately downed. The weakest spot in the navy line was right tackle, and Georgetown hammered through it for good gains.

The double pass was worked again with success. Hart was fairly good in the hurdlings act and could gain the required yards. The varsity boys rushed fiercely at the navy line until the ball was landed on the middies' 8-yard mark. Here's where the navy resisted successfully the onslaught of their opponents and held for downs.

With but three minutes to play the middies tried hard to take the ball down the field, but the defense offered by Georgetown did not give, and Belknap was called on to kick. Again the ball was passed wild, and McNair, who had placed himself behind Belknap, got the leather, but was downed before he could get outside the posts. The ball was punted out, and after a few more rushes by Georgetown time was called, with the ball in their possession.
